

Vashti was in her art class. She was sitting at her desk but her page was blank.

Her teacher examined the blank page and said she could see a polar bear in a snowstorm.

Vashti was angry and frustrated because she couldn't draw. Her teacher told her to make a mark on the page.

She grabbed a marker and made her mark furiously on a blank page.

The teacher picked up Vashti's dot and said to her "Sign it".

The next week, Vashti was really surprised when she saw her dot in a gold frame above her teacher's desk.

She said she could make a better dot so she started painting different dots of all sizes with watercolors.
