

The Crow and the jug.

It's a sunny day and it's hot. A Crow is thirsty, he wants to drink. He looks here and there and finds a jug. He looks into the jug, the jug is not empty. There is some water in the jug, but the water is very low.

The Crow cannot get it to drink. The Crow hops away and finds a little stone. He takes the stone up in his beak and drops it into the jug. Then he finds another little stone and drops it into the water too.

Soon the water is high and the Crow can drink. The Crow is very clever.

Never give up, do everything you can to get what you want!
